LBJ Schedules Busy Weekend

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. UPI—President Johnson was involved today in what his staff called "a busy weekend" at his Johnson City ranch.

The Chief Executive, his wife and a few guests flew to Texas from Washington late Friday, landing at Randolph Air Force Base outside San Antonio and continuing on to the LBJ Ranch by Air Force Jetstar.

Traveling with the Johnsons were their close friends, Jack Valenti, president of the Motion Picture Association of America and his wife, and Rep. Jake Pickle, D-Tex.

It was not immediately apparent at White House press headquarters in San Antonio what would constitute the President's "busy weekend" beyond final decision on several pending appointments to federal jobs.

One of the major selections which Johnson was believed to be almost ready to announce was a successor to Undersecretary of State George H. Ball who wants to return shortly to private life.

A-Weapon Lost

WASHINGTON UPI — The Navy is searching for a non-nuclear practice weapon lost in shallow water off Puerto Rico. A spokesman said the device posed no threat to people or property.

The weapon presumably used to simulate nuclear attacks, contained a small explosive charge and "sophisticated electronic equipment," the Navy said Friday.

TOKYO UPI — The North Korean Communist party official newspaper Rodong Shin-moon Friday published a virtual declaration of independence from Moscow and Peking.

In an editorial entitled, "let us defend our independence," the paper said all Communist parties must be independent in order to develop the proper form of revolution for their own countries.

"Revolution can neither be exported nor imported," the paper observed in a rare statement for a Communist publication.

Outside support for a revolution "plays only a secondary role," the paper observed in what was clearly a move away from Peking.

Observers believed the North Koreans might be moving toward possible alignment with the Japanese and Romanian Communist parties, both of which have become increasingly independent of late.

The long editorial was broadcast by the North Korean news agency and monitored here.

Communist or workers' parties of the world "should respect and uphold each other's independence in order to defend the unity of the socialist camp and the solidarity of the international Communist movement," it said. The paper added that the actual situation in each country is best known by the party of that country and said that party is responsible for the revolution and construction of the country.

"The Communists cannot live, ideologically shackled to anyone. They would not dance to the tune of others."

"If the Communists do not use their own brains, they will forfeit independence. A party devoid of independence cannot have principles and consistency in its lines and policies," the editorial continued.

One out of every eight American women 14 years old or older is a widow, according to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Six Indiana colleges and universities, led by DePauw University, Indiana University and Franklin College, achieved top ten ratings in three of four alumni gift categories according to a national report issued this week.

Compiled by the American Alumni Council, the 51-page statistical recap reviewed annual giving and alumni support for 1964-65.

The 1,278 colleges which answered the survey furnished by the AAC and the Council for Financial Aid to Education were arranged in nine categories or types of schools. Each category included four divisions.

DePauw, Indiana and Franklin each placed among the top 10 in the following divisions: the number of alumni donors to the annual alumni fund, the total number of dollars given by alumni to the annual alumni fund, and the total alumni donors to all funds, alumni and otherwise.

DePauw was third among 152 large co-educational colleges in the total number of its alumni giving to its regular alumni fund, and third in the total number of gifts by alumni to all university funds.

Indiana University finished eighth, third and seventh for the corresponding divisions in the public institutions class which included 114 universities. Franklin finished sixth, tenth and sixth among 65 reporting small co-educational colleges.

The University of Notre Dame won mention in the top 10 twice.

By United Press International
A summer deluge of shower activity continued over much of the nation today, from the Great Plains to the Mississippi, along the north Pacific Coast and through the South.

Monsoon-like rains Friday pelted central Nebraska. A total of 6.80 inches was reported on the Ed Ossentoski farm 11 miles east of Ord, Neb.

More than an inch fell in six hours at Norfolk, Neb. Lamar, Colo., collected 1.51 inches, Sioux City, Iowa, 1.81 inches, and Tucson, Ariz., reported an inch.

Clear skies, meanwhile, were reported west of the Continental Divide to the Pacific. Temperatures were near seasonal normals.

Organization of the County
"Putnam County was organized by an act of the General Assembly, approved December 31, 1821, and was named in honor of General Israel Putnam, of Revolutionary fame. As originally organized, Putnam County consisted of six townships, named Deer Creek, Hart, Sparta, Tipton, Walnut and Washington. To locate them or fix the boundary lines which separated them cannot now be done for the reason that the records of the proceedings of the county commissioners prior to 1828, where such information would properly belong, have long since disappeared from the files of the county auditor's office. From certain documents recently found in the clerk's office, however, we are safe in assuming that Tipton Township was in the center of the county and included the town of Greencastle; that Deer Creek was in the south part of the county and adjacent to the stream which now bears that name, and that Washington was in the southwest corner and covered practically the territory now included within the limits of the present township of that name. For the other three townships, the exact boundaries are unknown.

When the county was organized it embraced considerably more territory on the south and the west than it does at present. By successive acts of the General Assembly during the first years of the county's political existence, it was reduced to its present limits, except that Mill Creek Township was afterward added on the east.

For local political purposes the county is divided into fourteen civil townships, to wit: Jackson, Franklin, Russell, Clinton, Monroe, Floyd, Marion, Greencastle, Madison, Washington, Warren, Jefferson, Cloverdale, the last named not coming into existence until 1946. In September, 1860, the commissioners of Putnam County annexed about fifteen square miles of the territory of Morgan county lying northeast of Mill creek, the tract thus added to Putnam county was organized into a township and called Mill Creek.

The first county officers were Arthur McGaughey, Clerk and Recorder; James Talbot, Treasurer; William W. McIntosh, Sheriff; and Thomas Blake, Prosecutor. Amos Robertson was appointed County Agent, and the political organization was complete. It was yet necessary to provide for the administration of justice. Prior to this time, the citizens of the county had been under the jurisdiction of Owen County.

Selection of County Seat
The General Assembly of Indiana, at the same session which organized the county, appointed Jacob Lowe of Monroe County, Daniel Anderson of Owen County, and Judge Colman of Vermillion County, Commissioners to locate and name the county seat of justice for Putnam County. After considerable delay, occasioned by the explanation of several rival places, anxious to secure the location of the county seat in his own neighborhood, the present site of Greencastle was selected and established as the capital and seat of justice for the county.

When Greencastle was laid out, the site contained 160 acres of land. The old plat is bounded on the north by Liberty street, on the east by Locust street, on the south by Hanna street, on the west by Gillespie street, and was originally divided in 214 lots.

The part of the city which lies between Locust and Indiana streets was granted by Ephraim Dukes, having been entered by him January 25, 1821; and was deeded by him to Amos Robertson, agent for Putnam County, on the 27th day of September, 1823, in consideration of the location of the county seat at that place.

The west half of the old plat was given by John W. Clark, a son-in-law of Mr. Dukes. This grant was entered by Mr. Clark on the 17th day of September, 1822. The deed conveying this land to John Baird, agent for Putnam County, was not recorded until June 7, 1825.

Mr. Dukes came from near Greencastle, Penn., and the county seat of Putnam County was named by him in honor of that place. (In some history books, the above statement is not accepted as it has never been verified.)

Standing Firm On Reservists

WASHINGTON UPI — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara shows no signs of dropping his opposition to Viet Nam service for reservists, despite renewed Senate prodding and a continuing troop buildup.

In testimony released Friday, McNamara said he would not recommend use of reserve forces "under present conditions." The draft and enlistment will continue to be the main source of military manpower. "As far as I can see, at least as far as the rest of the year is concerned, I don't see the need now to anticipate calling them up for anything in Southeast Asia," McNamara said.

Mrs. Simmerman is Club Hostess
The Castle Toppers Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. James Simmerman Wednesday evening, Aug. 10.

The president being absent, the meeting was opened by the vice-president, Mrs. Carl Myers, with the thought of the month. The Flag Salute was given, followed by the Club Creed. The history of the Song of the Month was read by Mrs. Charles Starr. The secretary's report was given and accepted. There was no treasurer's report, the treasurer being absent. Roll call was quite interesting.

A report was given on 4-H. Health and Safety Chairman checked her reports. A report was given on last council meeting. The club voted for a luncheon for Achievement Day instead of an evening meal. The club also voted to pay for every program book they receive and they were also willing to help serve a meal this fall for the council treasury. Since all the clubs helped to furnish the kitchen at the Community Building, why not make use of it.

The meeting closed with the Club Prayer. The meeting was turned over to Mrs. Doty Buechler from Public Service who gave a very interesting lesson on small appliances. The electric knife was used and the many, many uses of the blender were demonstrated. A chicken was prepared on a rotisserie while the lesson was being given and was delicious. The cake was baked by the hostess but iced by the demonstrator with icing made in the blender. The recipe was available for those who wanted it.

The refreshments served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter and Mrs. Buechler were lovely.

A gift from the club was presented to Mrs. Buechler. Other gifts went to Irene Myers; Karen Wood, who also received the door prize.

Everyone thanked Mrs. Buechler and the hostess, Mrs. Simmerman, for such an enjoyable lesson and such a nice meeting.

The next meeting will be Sept. 7 with Vivian Murray.

Foreign News Commentary

By Joseph W. Grigg

PARIS UPI — French President Charles de Gaulle has dumped some serious housing problems in his allies' laps.

He has given the North Atlantic Treaty Organization until April 1 next year to get its two major headquarters out of France. The United States has been given the same notice to pull out all its troops and bases.

But, less than eight months from De Gaulle's deadline, they still are trying to make up their minds where to go.

The first and perhaps most immediate problem is the future of Supreme Allied Headquarters SHAPE, since 1951 has been located 10 miles west of Paris.

Belgium has offered it a new site at Chievres-casteau in the Mons-charleroi area, about 40 miles southwest of Brussels and 15 miles from the French frontier. But the allied supreme commander, Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer visited the site recently and was reported less than enthusiastic about it.

He found it too isolated and without good communications—something vital for the top allied command post. He asked the Belgians to suggest another site. But they have replied politely it must be Chievres-casteau or nothing.

So there the matter rests for the time being—with the clock ticking away, nothing decided and a complete headquarters setup and living quarters, schools and commissaries still to build for 600 officers and 2,500 enlisted men and their families.

Even less has been decided about the future of NATO's other major command posts, headquarters of Allied Forces Central Europe AFCEC, currently located at Fontainebleau south of Paris.

This is likely to go to Germany but no definite site has been found for it.

As for NATO's political headquarters in Paris the uncertainty remains complete.

When the NATO foreign ministers met in Brussels at the beginning of June they were unable to make up their minds and put off a decision until October.

The United States, Great Britain and an apparent majority of other member countries favor moving to Brussels in order to be as near as possible to Supreme Allied Headquarters—"co-location" of the two is the "Natoese" word for it.

But a vocal minority headed by Canada has taken the line that nothing should be done to irritate the French. Some senior permanent NATO officials who are comfortably established in Paris also are arguing "Why leave Paris?"

It's not even certain that the Belgians have a building for the NATO political headquarters—if the organization should plump finally for a move although the Belgian government is reported to have indicated privately that this would not be a serious problem.

The French have said little about it, though some French officials say that "Let's not annoy the French" is not an issue because De Gaulle doesn't really care one way or the other.

But other allied officials believe this is simply a piece of

The Daily Banner, Greencastle, Indiana 3
Saturday, August 13, 1966

diplomatic finessing and insist that, in fact, De Gaulle very much wants NATO to remain in Paris.

Sells Fish To Restore Church

restore his 12th century village church.

The National Federation of Fishmongers at Grantham, five miles away, doesn't like it. A spokesman said the reverend's fish sales are ruining their business.

"It is disgraceful when the church has to go into the fish trade to raise money," he said. Rev. Lundberg makes a 130-mile round trip to Grimsby every Friday to buy fish wholesale and sell it here, where there is no local fishmonger.

He has thus far realized $22.40 in profits.

ON THE FARM FRONT

By Carlo J. Salzano
WASHINGTON UPI — Cattle prices during the first half of 1966 were higher than last year, but producers are not so sure the cost-price margin will continue favorable over the next five or six years.

The Agriculture Department's Economic Research Service says the record rate at which cattle are being slaughtered reflects this pessimism to the part of the cow-calf operators.

An ERS economist said the way things look now the cut-back in beef production won't be as sharp as in previous years, but in two or three years supplies will be down by 8 to 10 pounds per capita.

Cattle and calf numbers on farms have increased steadily since 1958. By the beginning of last year, the inventory was a record 107.2 million head. Since then, slaughtering has set a record pace, with the total climbing to 6 per cent over last year.

According to the ERS, prospects for keeping the cattle and calf inventory unchanged this year are about nil. To do this, slaughtering would have to be cut by about 4 per cent from 1965.

The outlook on retail prices for the rest of the summer is for pork prices to go down and beef and veal prices to continue at present levels.

Choice grade beef sold retail for an average 85 cents a pound in June 6, cents more than in May, 1965; the price of pork was up 14 cents, to 72 cents.

Hollywood News

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD UPI — Wherever Merle Oberon walks on the streets and paths of Warner Bros. studio she is followed by a tough looking cop with a gun in his holster.

It's not that the beautiful actress is under guard. But her jewelry is.

Back in Hollywood for her first movie in a decade, Miss Oberon is wearing a half million dollars of her own sparklers. They are insured, certainly, but the studio doesn't want to take any chances.

The question is why doesn't Merle wear costume jewelry or paste and forget all the jazz with armed guards?

"Because real jewelry looks very different on screen than the phony kind," answered the ageless star. "Anyone who knows anything about gems can tell the real thing on the screen. They sparkle more than paste."

"I'm almost positive the jewelry used in 'Arabesque' was the genuine article. The workmanship of the settings and the fire in the stones photographed with much more brilliance."

Because the jewelry is her own, Miss Oberon was concerned about safeguarding her diamonds, emeralds, pearls and turquoise stones, set in earrings, necklaces, pins and bracelets.

"The studio guard is always outside my door, here at the dressing room or at the sound stage," she said. "When I walk to makeup or wardrobe or to lunch he comes right along with me.

"At night the stones are locked in a safe right here on the lot. But when they are to be worn to a party the guard leaves me at the gate and I'm on my own."

Miss Oberon is concerned but unworried about being robbed.

"Material things mean very little to me," she explained. "The minute you begin to worry about possessions, you begin to look like it. Those thoughts age a person very quickly."

Fortunately, Merle entertains this point of view or she might resemble Hermione Gingold. She has as many possessions as any actress in the world.

For openers she has magnificent homes in Beverly Hills, Acapulco, Mexico City, and Cuernavaca. As a society leader in Mexico, California and Europe she is among the world's best dressed women with a wardrobe to dazzle the eye.

On The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST

United Press International

WASHINGTON UPI — If you are a sickly old man with a pale complexion, sweaty palms, clammy skin, low vitality and a fetish about bathing, congratulations.

You're the type of person least likely to be bitten by a mosquito.

Or so it says in this press release I recently received.

It says that mosquitoes are discriminating in their choice of victims. When confronted with a human smorgasbord, they will concentrate on the tastiest dish.

I had heard that before but I always thought it was an old wives' tale, mainly because it was first told to me by an old wife.

One evening when I was a child, an old wife and I were sitting out on the veranda. She was playing a mandolin and singing "Moonlight Bay."

After a while she said, "Let's go back into the house. These mosquitoes are driving me crazy."

"They must be music lovers," I said, whereupon she smote me on the noggin with the mandolin.

Other evidence that mosquitoes have their likes and dislikes was supplied by a study made some time ago by Union Carbide Corp., whose products include an insect repellent.

It showed that mosquitoes go mainly for people who are healthy, young, active and temperamental; have dark complexions, dry palms, and warm skin; wear dark clothing and strong perfume, hair tonic or shaving lotion; and bathe no oftener than once a day.

On the basis of this study, the company drew up a test that people can take to determine whether or not they are mosquito-prone.

Anyone scoring between 85 and 100 would cause a mosquito to roll his eyes, lick his lips, and exclaim "c'est magnifique." For anyone in the 0-25 range, the reaction would be "yuck."

I took the test and scored a 65, indicating I am in the "yummy" bracket. I am not entirely convinced, however, that this proves anything.

The study may have omitted the factor that is most likely to cause a mosquito to attack.

Despite my relatively high delectability rating, I went for years without being bitten. Then, last month I made a vacation trip to Florida.

I was visiting some people who live on a lake front and one night we had a cookout down by the shore. At the suggestion of an old wife in the group, we sang a couple of choruses of "Moonlight Bay."

I haven't quit scratching yet.

Look for the look of sweaters and T-shirts in many of the daytime fashions for fall and winter.

The "thing" for fall in coiffures is to add hairpieces for evening; some of the new ones are big cascades of hair falling to the shoulders.

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

These Are Your Questions

WHAT is meant by farmer's lung disease?

Farmer's lung disease refers to a condition seen occasionally in people who work with cattle, hay and grain.

When moldy grains and dusts are inhaled the spores of the fungus enter the bronchial tubes and infect the lungs.

The symptoms of cough, shaking chills, fever and general weakness, resemble those of pneumonia. Fortunately, the condition responds well to treatment and rarely is fatal.

Protective masks are being developed to prevent the repeated inhalation of the fungi responsible for farmer's lung.

Can pain in the jaw joint be related to a general arthritic condition?

The jaw joint and all other joints in the body can be the site of arthritis.

More frequently, however, the jaw joint is affected by an imbalance of the bite. Missing teeth, poorly fitting dentures, and grinding of the teeth can change the occlusion (bite) of the teeth and affect the normal function of the jaw joint.

Pain shooting to the ears, the mastoid, the neck and the jaws can be caused by changes within the structure of the jaw joint.

Can a blood transfusion cause jaundice and hepatitis?

Hepatitis as a result of a blood transfusion does occasionally occur. Fortunately it is rare.

The virus that is responsible may be in the blood of the donor without giving him any symptoms. When his blood is used for a transfusion the virus may incubate in the recipient for many weeks before jaundice and hepatitis appear.

Donors are screened very carefully in order to insure their good health before their blood is used. New techniques are being tried to sterilize blood with ultraviolet light to reduce to a minimum such reactions to transfusions.

WILL YOU BE GLAD WHEN SCHOOL STARTS?

Diana Cordian, 10, Greencastle. Yes, I like to be in the 5th grade. I like to go to school. I like to study English, reading, music. Also, I like recess very much.

Chris Johnston, Senior, Greencastle. Yes, because I will be a senior. As a senior, you are the most, best, and the most important in school. You get to do more things, and you are somebody. I want classes and football games to start.

Jeffery Caldwell, 10, Greencastle. No, I don't like school. I don't like to work, the writing or the teachers. I have had too much fun this Summer. I went swimming, on a vacation, stayed at Grandma's, and I will miss it. (Please teachers, don't be too hard on Jeff.)

Lower Gas Rate Being Offered

A new lower natural gas rate is being offered by Indiana Gas & Water Co. to industrial and commercial customers using a gas engine or turbine to produce mechanical or electrical energy.

The rate applies to a new concept of producing all types of energy in a commercial or industrial establishment building where all the energy is taken from a gas turbine or gas engine.

According to Barry E. Russell, Greencastle commercial manager, this method will produce electrical energy as low as 4/10 of a cent per kilowatt hour. Russell points out that the economies of on-site power generation are gaining wide acceptance with industrial and commercial establishments as well as large housing complexes throughout the country.

In addition to electrical energy, left-over heat from the gas engine or turbine is available for year round water heating, for space heating in winter, and for the operation of air conditioning equipment in summer.

Another advantage of on-site power generation, over and above its unusually low cost of electrical energy, says Russell, is freedom from blackouts resulting from overloaded distribution systems or violent weather.

When Hurricane Betsy struck southern Florida in the fall of 1965, 80% of the power went out. But the David-Williams apartment hotel, with gas turbines on the roof, maintained full services including lighting, hot water and air conditioning.

A copy of the total energy schedule and further information is available at the local Indiana Gas & Water Co. office.

Steve Cisco To Have Home Advantage

BLOOMINGTON UPI — Indiana University sophomore Steve Cisco will have the advantage of playing on his home course when he takes on Ross Elder of Tulsa, Okla., today in the championship round of the Western Junior golf tourney.

Elder, a 5 foot 10 inch University of Tulsa sophomore, is a speedy player who doesn't seem to take time to study each shot. The bespectacled 18-year-old birdied six of the first eight holes in his semi-final match against Tommy McGinnis of Memphis, Tenn., Friday afternoon and held on for a 1-up victory.

Cisco, a 6 foot 2 inch 18-year-old from Evanston, Ill., relies on power hitting for the strong point of his game. He raced to a 3-up advantage in as many holes Friday in his match against Greg Pitzer of Los Angeles and won 5 and 3.

They were among 237 young golfers who began two days of qualifications on the IU course Tuesday. They had to survive four rounds of match play Thursday and Friday to make it to today's final match.

Defending champion John Richart, Ann Arbor, Mich., lost out in his first match Thursday. Co-medalists Danny May, Kokomo, Ind., and Drue Johnson, Paris, Ill., also went down to defeat. May and Johnson fired 2 under par 140s to lead the 31 qualifiers. Cisco made it at 143 and Elder at 144.

Elder beat the only Hoosier left in the tourney, Fred Biggs of South Bend 4 and 3 in the quarter-finals Friday morning. Cisco topped Gary Haden of Mesa, Ariz., 4 and 2.

In the other quarter-final matches, McGinnis beat Johnson 3 and 2, and Pitzer topped Robert Barbarossa, St. Cloud, Minn., 1 up.

Pitzer had qualified for the playoffs five times and made the semi-finals for the past three years. His best finish was in 1964 as runnerup.

Phoenix Beats Tribe

INDIANAPOLIS UPI — Phoenix used four double-plays to beat down potential Indianapolis rallies and came out on top 4-3 Friday night in a Pacific Coast League contest.

With the bases loaded for the Indians in the 9th Marv Staehle fled out and Bill Voss was thrown out at the plate to shut the door. It was the third straight loss for Indianapolis, who trails Tulsa for the Eastern Division lead after dropping a double-header to the Oilers Thursday night.

Why do some people traditionally choose August to buy their new Chevrolet?

Malibu Sport Coupe and Malibu Sedan. Both with 100-hp. engines and 130-mph. top speeds.

To save money and, quite often, lots of it.

They know that prices will never be better at their Chevrolet dealer's than they are in August. They know their present cars will never be worth more in trade than they are right now. And they know a good value when they see one, like a Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe—the most popular model of America's most popular mid-size car. It comes with thick foam-cushioned seats, deep-twist carpeting, vinyl up one door and down the other, padded instrument panel and sun visors for added safety. And all those Body by Fisher niceties sit solidly over some of the surest handling features a car can have: Ball-Race steering. Full Coil suspension. Wide-stance wheel design for steady cornering. So you see, "Chevrolet in August" makes a lot of sense. Fine cars. Exceptionally good buys and all those beautiful driving days left. Real Malibu weather. Act, my friend.

Three British Policemen Shot

LONDON UPI—Three policemen were shot dead Friday near Wormwood Scrubs prison in West London, Scotland Yard announced.

The policemen were killed while in their police car. An official at the prison said no prisoners were known to have escaped.

"It is not connected with the prison," he said. First reports said the three policemen, members of the criminal investigation department, died as a result of a single shot each.

Police cars and ambulances rushed to the scene.

The shooting was one of the most serious killings of police in British history. British police, traditionally unarmed, are rarely involved in shooting incidents. Three have been killed in separate incidents during the past five years.

Wormwood Scrubs was the scene of a spectacular prison break in June when four prisoners escaped over the wall with an improvised rope made of mail bags manufactured at the prison. But prison officials said there was apparently no connection with today's incident.

The shooting occurred after the officers apparently had stopped two men in the street for questioning.

The policemen themselves were traveling in an unmarked car. They were all four nearby Shepherds Bush police station and included a detective sergeant, a temporary detective constable and a constable.

Hoosier Killed In Train Wreck

CADDO MILLS, Tex. UPI—Twenty-two cars of a 103-car Missouri-Kansas-Texas freight train jumped the tracks Friday, killing an Indiana man and injuring another when seven cars hurtled into a creek.

Authorities identified the dead man as Eugene Thares, 24, of Indianapolis, and the injured man as Herbert Leroy Towns, 39, thought to be from Florida. Both were transients. No train crewmen were injured.

The railroad yard office in Greenville said the train, No. 155, en route from Denison to Dallas, derailed five miles west of Caddo Mills.

The overturning cars tore up a bridge over the creek. At the back part of the train, only a caboose and three cars were left on the tracks.

The accident occurred just off Texas Highway 66.

Man Died Of Gun Wound

MARION, UPI—Dan Ramsey, 34, a carnival worker who was found dying at the Grant County 4-H Fairgrounds Thursday, died of a gunshot wound instead of a stab wound. Authorities at first believed Ramsey had been stabbed. But an autopsy turned up a .32 caliber bullet near his heart.

Ramsey operated a concession stand on the midway for Key City Shows. He was from either Orgas, W. Va., or Paintsville, Mo., authorities said. Ramsey was a Cherokee Indian. Robbery may have been a motive, authorities said. Ramsey had no wallet or money on his person when found and a suitcase in the trailer had been opened and the contents dumped out.

Don't Try To Steal Your Own Property

By Alfred Sheinwold

Sometimes you can get the opponents to discard badly when you lead out a long string of trumps. Adopt this plan when you have nothing surer.

Opening lead — ♦ K

South ruffed the king of diamonds and saw no legitimate way to avoid the loss of two tricks in each black suit. Rather than give up without a struggle South led out his trumps in the hope that some weird problem might cause an opponent to throw the wrong cards.

It didn't work. East decided to keep three cards in each black suit, which turned out to be just right. If South had held four of one black suit and two of the other, he would have had a chance. As it was, he eventually lost two spades and two clubs. Down one.

South would have made the contract if he hadn't tried to steal a tenth trick that already belonged to him. He had nine sure tricks to start with and could have developed one of dummy's diamonds as his tenth trick.

RUFF HIGH
South must ruff the first trick with a high trump and lead a low trump to dummy's eight. He then leads a diamond from dummy and discards any low black card—say a spade.

West wins with the jack of diamonds and returns a club to force out the ace. South leads a trump to dummy's nine and gives up another diamond, discarding a club this time.

West wins with the ace of diamonds and cashes a club trick. South wins the next trick, whatever it is, and leads his last low trump to dummy's ten. Now he can cash dummy's last diamond and throw a spade away, making the game contract.

DAILY QUESTION
As dealer you hold: S-K Q J 5 2; H-None; D-7 6 4 2; C-K J 10 9. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. The hand is not quite worth an opening bid. Change either of the black kings to an ace, and the hand would be worth a bid of one spade. Avoid opening a borderline hand that does not contain an ace.

We are our brother's keeper.

My Plight

Could it be the accident of birth that 'caved-in' her world? Does God discriminate between His people?

Could it be that her home located 'across-the-track' determines her plight??? An empty bowl, sure, but a compassionate heart. Almost despondent that's what she is. If you are one of those who has plenty and haven't yet given ...

then, maybe you are partially responsible for the situation we find here. God may take from your store-house the 'just' amount. He said, inasmuch as you have done it to the least of one of these little ones, so have you done it to me. Her plight may be our responsibility. May we see that she has the opportunity to attend church regularly for we are, our brother's keeper.

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination for good. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker, a daily bible reader and attend services regularly.

This message is dedicated to the building of a more spiritual and a greater church going community under the auspices of the Greencastle Ministerial Association and is being sponsored by the following individuals and business firms who want, as their only return, to see more people attending church. The church needs your support. The community needs the church.
